Letter from the Editor

by Mark Winkler

Fifty years ago, Dartmouth was prepping to print the dark green covered, paper booklet entitled “Application for Admissions, September 1975.” On the inside cover in a box was written: “YOUR FIRST STEP: Remove the staples from this booklet.” No matter what we did at Dartmouth—or over the more than 538 months since graduation—our journeys all started on that paper with those nine printed words and two zinc plated, steel wire staples that we first had to bend. I guess we have just been learning to bend things and make a difference in the real world ever since.

The future members of Dartmouth’s Class of 2029 are now starting their prep for applying this fall. I am certain they no longer have to jump our “staple hurdle.” In just five years when they graduate during our 50th Reunion, we can swap stories about what has changed and what has stayed the same with the Dartmouth undergraduate experience.

This newsletter (paper version) also has two staples; however, you do not need to remove them. There are 32 pages of content including a combined front & back “bulletin board” single cover that invites exploration and a center four-page Eclipse 2024 photo spread that should invite a sense of awe.

In between there are more than a hundred classmate photographs and stories of the 79th day mini and micro reunions. Many thanks to our president Adam Samuels for tirelessly collecting and storing all these events on SmugMug <https://classof1979.smugmug.com/> without which this newsletter would not have been possible. May these photos and words bring you smiles and shared joy.

Based on our Alma Mater, we sing “Dear old Dartmouth, set a watch, lest the old traditions fail.” However, based on the same source, there are only Three Traditions: “Stand as sister stands by brother” or we help each other whenever we can; “Dare a deed for the old Mother” or we help Dartmouth; and “Greet the world from the hills with a hail” or for whatever we do, we should do and be the best.

Reunions in whatever form help bring us together both to reconnect with old friends and to make new ones. Less than 420 days remain until our 45th Reunion next June: Changes in Latitudes, Changes in Attitudes. Let us again stand together, help Dartmouth, and share our best. Consider signing on to help. It’s another great way to get to know and to learn from your classmates.

In the meantime, please join us on May 1 for A Sitting on the 79 Fence session with Peter Robinson and John Bussey (page 3). Attend the May 18 event celebration of Buddy Teevens in Hanover (page 5); almost 50 classmates have already signed up. Plus for the fall, there are four or five Mini-reunions being planned (page 31).

Enjoy your exploration. Stay true to the Three Traditions. And continue to bend things and make a difference in the real world around us. Stay healthy!

"Peter and John will lead us on a romp across current events, ... including American politics and the current Presidential race."

We are very excited that our next Sitting on the '79 Fence session on May 1 will feature Peter Robinson '79 interviewed by his friend and classmate, John Bussey '79.

awards for international coverage. John contributed a first-person story to a package of articles on the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks that also received the Pulitzer Prize.

Peter is the Murdoch Distinguished Policy Fellow at the Hoover Institution, where he writes about business and politics, edits the Hoover Digest, and hosts the video program, Uncommon Knowledge. At Dartmouth, he majored in English then obtained a Master's at Oxford. Peter spent six years in the White House as a speech writer, first for Vice President George Bush and then for President Ronald Reagan. He wrote the historic Berlin Wall address in which President Reagan called on Mikhail Gorbachev to "tear down this wall!" Peter has served as a Dartmouth Trustee and is the author of three books: How Ronald Reagan Changed My Life; It's My Party: A Republican's Messy Love Affair with the GOP; and Snapshots from Hell: The Making of an MBA.

Peter will be interviewed by John Bussey '79. For 41 years, John has worked for The Wall Street Journal as associate editor, deputy editor in chief, columnist, bureau chief in Washington, Hong Kong and Tokyo, economics editor, foreign editor, and features editor on the page-one staff. His staff has won three Pulitzer Prizes and six Overseas Press Club

John Bussey

Peter and John will lead us on a romp across current events. John will explore what Peter has to say about the world today, including American politics and the current Presidential race. Where else will you find a highly informed, rational, and collegial discussion of our current situation? We'll be taking questions from classmates attending the online conversation.

We will convene via Zoom on Wednesday, May 1, at 8 pm east coast time, 5 pm west coast time. Here is the link:

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE FUND

To our fabulous 79 classmates,

Thanks to so many of you who have already made your gift to the Dartmouth College Fund! Your gifts have made it possible for us to boast about being ahead of our progress at this time last year, in both DONORS and DOLLARS. We still have much work to do to reach our ambitious goals for the 2023/24 fiscal year. However, your participation in the the recent 79th day challenge has helped us move forward. We received 41 new gifts totaling $18,544 in the month of March. THANK YOU!

Please join us in congratulating Allen Chen and Helen Picher, both winners of Dartmouth SWAG in our recent raffle. YOU could also be a WINNER—please donate today, because another raffle winner will be announced soon!

More than half of Dartmouth’s undergraduates rely on some amount of financial aid. They would not be able to attend without your support through the Dartmouth College Fund. Gifts to the DCF go to work immediately to support he Dartmouth experience for all students. Please make your gift today!

WAYS TO MAKE A DCF GIFT

- Check: Payable to Dartmouth College Fund; 6066 Development Office; Hanover, NH 03755
- Online: dartmouthcollegefund.org

Dartmouth Partners in Community Service

Heading into Summer term, the Center for Social Impact is looking for at least 35 service-minded alumni to mentor the next wave of DPCS student interns. We hope that many of you will take a few minutes to complete our contact information survey via the accompanying QR code. There is no downside here, mates. Registering your interest in potentially serving as a DPCS mentor simply means that you will consider participating in the program--without any obligation--should you be contacted about a pairing opportunity with a current undergrad. Need more incentive? Done--each registrant will be entered into a raffle for some nifty Dartmouth swag.

Thank you for your consideration!

Please click on the following link or QR code and take two minutes to fill out the DPCS Mentor Intake Form:

A WORD FROM OUR REUNION CO-CHAIRS 45TH REUNION JUNE 19-22 2025

by Jennifer Hughes & Ken Beer

Dear Fellow '79s,

In just over a year we'll descend on the Hanover Plain for our 45th Reunion. Don't delay! Put June 19-22, 2025 on your calendar. NOW.

If you know you are coming to reunion, put it on your calendar NOW.

If you think you might be coming to reunion, put it on your calendar NOW.

If you're undecided, put it on your calendar NOW, and think about how much fun it would be to have a change in latitude to look forward to next year.

If you're thinking you don't wanna go, put it on your calendar NOW anyway. Then call a friend or two who you haven't seen for years, and see if they'll join you. Even if your best pal can't come with you, attending our 45th, and seeing for yourself that our class is truly bursting with interesting and welcoming people, just might change your attitude about the value of reunions.

Ken Beer

Jennifer Hughes

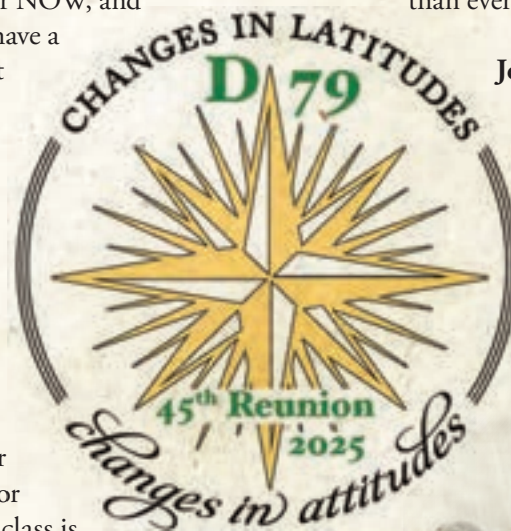

Come 2025, it will have been a full decade since we last had the opportunity to gather in Hanover and revel in the magic of the place and of one another's company. That's a long time without a reunion. Too long. But as the late Jimmy Buffet sang:

*Yesterday's over my shoulder, so I can't look back for too long
There's just too much to see waiting in front of me and I know that I just can't go wrong
With these changes in latitudes, changes in attitudes
Nothing remains quite the same
With all of my running and all of my cunning
If I couldn't laugh I just would go insane"*

We're expecting to see more classmates at our 45th reunion than ever before. You really don't want to miss it.

Jennifer tojhughes@gmail.com
& Ken khbeer79@gmail.com ✨

Running a Reunion Takes a (Dartmouth) Village

These past few months we have been busy reaching out to volunteers to round out the reunion management team, and we are SUPER grateful to everyone who has signed on to date. However, we have still got some key positions open, and would love to have you involved. Please let us know if you would be willing to fill any of the following spots:

- Friday lunch manager
- Saturday lunch manager
- Sunday brunch manager
- Tent-based coffee, tea & snack manager
- Individuals willing to fill one PM shift as a tent closer, and two AM shifts as tent openers.
- Individuals willing to do outreach to affinity groups (such as dorm groups, off-campus study groups, sports team members, club members, activity group members, etc.)
- Individuals willing to be a swing player and address a future need that we don't even know we need!!!

If interested or if you have questions, please contact Jennifer rojhughes@gmail.com or Ken khbeer79@gmail.com ✨

Darkness in the Daytime: 79s at the Total Solar Eclipse in Texas

by Doug Arion and photos by Joe Giammarco

Now, you would have thought that April weather prospects in Texas would be better than April weather prospects in New Hampshire, and you would not be alone. In fact, the entire astronomy community was committed to that prediction for the Total Solar Eclipse, and along with many others we duly traveled to Killeen, TX to see this amazing spectacle. And, wouldn't you know it, New England – typically a cloudy mess in April – was blazing clear, and Texas, usually blazing clear in April, was mostly cloudy. But that did not stop us from glimpsing the totally eclipsed Sun – a wonder to all the members of our trip of 22 enthusiasts who came along on the trip I led with my friend Matt Putnam, including fellow '79s Tim Gent, Tim Sykes, and Joe Giammarco, with respective spouses.

After five days of touring in central Texas, including some hiking, a fascinating mammoth excavation site, some interesting wineries, and a fascinating community that still participates in many old fashioned crafts, we prepared for our eclipse observing. I had the chance to do three public lectures while we were there – one addressing astronomy, space science, and the environment; one on the science of the Sun; and one on eclipses and experiencing the event. Eclipse day dawned with high clouds, but thicker layers moved in as the eclipse began. We could see the moon progressing over the Sun through gaps here and there...but the Sun was hidden as totality began. A few breaks during the 4:15 of totality we were granted gave us a chance to see the corona and some very bright prominences...and we certainly celebrated as totality ended and the rest of the partial eclipse concluded.

I am so happy to have brought our classmates out to see this – a total eclipse is the single most amazing natural phenomenon one can experience. It must have been quite an event for everyone – before it was over they were already hooked and talking – seriously – about setting up trips to the eclipses in '26 (Iceland and Spain) and '27 (Egypt)! I'm really hoping we all stay healthy and come to New England for the next eclipse that comes here...in 2079...for our 100th reunion. Who's up for that?!

The accompanying photos were taken by Joe Giammarco, and should give you an idea of what we got to experience on this grand adventure. ●

I am in Cordoba Argentina where I was invited to speak at the Argentinian Cystic Fibrosis Conference on liver and gi issues in CF. We then headed to Patagonia to fly fish.

The second photo is near the Chimeleuin River near San Martin de los Andes. My wife Dana Shepard and I spent some time after the Argentinian Cystic Fibrosis Conference on our favorite past time, fly fishing together, this time in Northern Patagonia. We continue to be impressed by the passion for protecting the outdoors by the people who reside in Patagonia, either in Chile and Argentina. Not sure why it loaded upside down.

I am still working at Children's Hospital Colorado. I serve as the Executive for Provider Strategic Partnerships where I am the physician lead for all external relationship in the Rocky Mountain Region. I still do Pediatric Hepatology but I am working my way to retirement, now working 3 days a week. I plan on fully retiring mid 2026.

DC 79TH DAY EVENT

by Burr Gray

It was a comfortable sunny day as our heroes assembled for the 3-mile hiking portion of the official DC 79th Day event. The intrepid team consisted of Tom French, Da'aga Hill Bowman (whose mother lives at the Kendal retirement community near Hanover), Steve Hufford (about to captain the American team in the 60+ age group for the World's Court Tennis event in the UK this summer), Barb Murphy (still doing intellectual property law, at least for a few more years), Bill Conway plus his hounds Tashmoo and Tucker, Tony Anderson (teaches accounting, etc. to Howard University MBA students), and Burr Gray & Fiona Gray (the official group photographer for the day).

After starting at Great Falls on the MD side, we continued along the path by the C&O Canal, catching sight of turtles basking in the sun, herons, plus a red fox as we got closer to civilization. Roger Sullivan joined us after the walk for the meal and socializing at Bill & Diana Conway's home in Potomac, MD. Always the gracious host, Mr. Conway is. (A little Yoda there.) While we didn't appear to solve any of the world's issues, we had a lively conversation over burgers, salad and fine wines about housing, ably informed by Tom, who has had a career as an architect in the DC area.

Tony won the prize given for the best guess at pi, a tradition carried over from when the annual 79th Day event was held at the "House of Pi" in downtown DC. (To be frank, the tradition makes no real sense anymore, but that didn't stop us and perhaps that is true of most traditions.) Always most enjoyable to meet up with fellow '79's at this yearly event.

I'm enjoying life in NH, especially when the men's hockey team advances to the ECAC playoff semifinals, beating Union two nights in a row. (See team scrum over my right shoulder.) The team is on the rise, and Thompson is still a great place to watch a game.

Just prior to goal-judging the series close-out win over Union, 4-2 to the Big Green. On to Lake Placid!

"LEAP" and greetings from Sunset Beach, NC! Here's my annual 79th Day photo. The T-shirt I'm wearing is from a Class of '79 soccer reunion in 2022. The original photo for the t-shirt was taken after my last varsity match in 1978 and shows all the 79s on the team. We're all just as fit as we were then.

In the background, I also show my diploma as proof to those out there, including my parents, who were not quite certain I'd graduate.

Eleven of us took a four-plus mile easy walk in the NY Rockefeller State Park Preserve near Tarrytown, NY. We followed crushed stone carriage roads through varied landscapes of forest and fields past brooks and ponds while catching up. We passed the Stone Barns Center for Food & Agriculture <https://stonebarnscenter.org> and some of us even picked up cups of coffee to go. The rains held off in favor of sunshine breaking through clouds.

For lunch, we all met at the nearby Guadalajara Mexican Restaurant plus both Neal Luppescu and Rich Conn joined us for lunch.
